This outdoor PANDESA storage unit is made from solid steel panels welded to wrap-around lateral braces which prevent deflection in the structure. Panels can be filled with sand or cement to reinforce them before fixing them to the unit.

Every component is zinc plated and then coated with polyurethane resin paint.

Modular elements include a corrugated roof on a painted steel support base, with PVC guttering for drainage. Configuration is adaptable to your needs.

The door has a mesh front and is equipped with a safety lock. No building permit is required to erect these on your premises.
